

5 Benefits of a Long-Term Position with Eisenhower Health Over a Travel Nurse Job

Extended Education

At Eisenhower Health, we find it incredibly important to invest in those who invest their career path with us. No matter where you are in your nursing career, our Nursing Education Program provides ongoing education exclusive to our nursing staff.

Growth & Recognition

Committing to a full time position within a hospital opens up future doors for internal promotions and long-term career growth opportunities. For example, at Eisenhower Health, we have multiple performance excellence and recognition programs to honor and reward nurses that excel in their role.

Diversity & Support

One of the biggest knocks on travel nursing is the inability to create a sense of community and develop a support system within a hospital. At Eisenhower Health, we're committed to fostering an environment of culture and equality and we welcome all of our new team members with open arms.

Resort-Style Living

Travel nursing allows you to explore a variety of places but our 130-acre campus in Rancho Mirage offers a long-term resort style lifestyle with accessibility to some incredible and diverse areas of Southern California.

Job Security

Inconsistencies in demand from hospitals, competition between candidates, the ability to obtain a state-specific license, needing further certifications to accept specific roles, and more, are all realities a travel nurse may face when approaching the end of a contract. Accepting a full time position with Eisenhower Health eliminates the stress of having to be constantly looking for your next role.
